

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DATE: Nov. 9, 2011

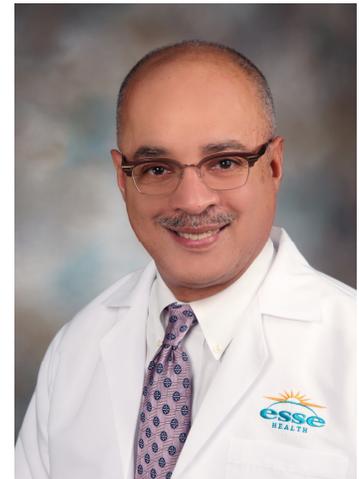

FOR MORE INFO: Erin Smith, HLK, 314.571.6313 or eksmith@hikagency.com
Claire Leffler, Esse Health, 314.851.1053 or cleffler@essehealth.com

NEWS RELEASE

Esse Health Expands Reach of Patient Care into St. Louis City Limits

ST. LOUIS – Esse Health has added internal medicine physician Dr. Jerome Williams to its physician group. The office, located at 3409 N. Union, St. Louis, Mo., 63115, is the first Esse Health office within St. Louis City. Dr. Williams is accepting new patients.

Dr. Williams is board certified in internal medicine and has practiced in St. Louis for 29 years. He attended medical school at the Duke University School of Medicine and completed his residency at the Washington University School of Medicine. Named one of the Best Doctors the past five years, Williams currently serves as an associate professor of internal medicine at Washington University.

Esse Health is a St. Louis-based physician group that strives to improve the overall well-being of its patients through patient education, lifestyle modification and prevention. With 29 locations throughout the St. Louis and Metro East area, Esse Health's services include asthma, allergy and immunology, family medicine, internal medicine, nutrition, pediatrics and radiology. Esse Health is recognized as a leader in using technology in health care and physician accountability for both quality and cost-of-care. For more information on Esse Health, visit www.essehealth.com.